MORGAN COUNTY BURLEY farmer Mont Cantrell of Sand Lick inspects his crop as it nears topping time. Burley has helped make Morgan "the Bluegrass County of the Mountains" and brings farmers over $2½ million each year. Morgan farmers have always voted strong for the allotment and price support program. But Congress has ended the acreage allotment program and there will be no program for the 1971 crop unless farmers approve the proposed new poundage allotment program in the referendum May 4.

Voting May 4 For or Against Burley Quotas For 3 Years

Burley Supports Ended With This Year's New Law

Burley tobacco growers will vote on May 4 on whether to have farm poundage quotas and price support — or no marketing quotas and no price support for the 1971 crop. Congress has recently amended the tobacco marketing quota law and ruled out acreage allotments for Burley tobacco. Acreage allotments have not controlled production effectively in recent years, as per acre yields have increased sharply. Average yields rose from about 1000 pounds per acre in 1960 to nearly 2600 pounds in 1970. While yields have risen, domestic usage has declined.

As a result, Burley tobacco has accumulated in government loan stocks. On March 1, government loan holdings totaled 500 million pounds. Under the amended law, if a price support program is to be continued on Burley tobacco, poundage quotas must be approved by two-thirds of the growers voting in the May 4 referendum. THE REFERENDUM IS NOT TO DECIDE BETWEEN ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS OR POUNDAGE QUOTAS; IT IS TO DECIDE BETWEEN POUNDAGE QUOTAS OR NO PROGRAM.

Each farm's poundage quota for 1971 is 95 percent of its 1970 acreage allotment, multiplied by the farm yield. The farm yield is the simple average of the four highest yields obtained in the last five years (1966-70). However, no yield can exceed 3500 pounds per acre. If the farm did not produce Burley tobacco in all 5 years, the farm yield is the average of the yields when it was grown. If no Burley has been grown during the 5 years, the county committee establishes a yield based on the yields of similar farms in the area.

INSURANCE FEATURE
The poundage quotas provide an insurance feature for Burley tobacco growers. If marketings from a farm are less than the farm's quota in any year, the difference will be added to the farm's quota for the following year. A farm may also overmarket its quota by up to ten percent without penalty and with price support. The excess is deducted from the farm's quota for the following year. This feature protects growers in the event of a crop failure, and also protects them from marketing penalties in a year of unusually high yields.

Under the amended law, Burley quotas can now be leased and transferred to other farms within the same county (with a limit of 15,000 pounds to any one farm). The other types of tobacco already have lease and transfer privileges — which enable growers to assemble more economic units.

Any person who participated in producing a burley crop last year, man or woman over 18 years of age, is eligible to vote in the referendum. This includes owners of allotments, tenants, or share croppers. Also provision is made for incapacitated persons to vote by absentee ballots. Application for absentee ballots should be made to an ASCS community committeeman or to the ASCS county office.

At the same time, growers who want to discontinue tobacco production can get income by leasing their farm quotas. If two-thirds of the Burley tobacco growers voting in the May 4 referendum approve the poundage quotas, they will be in effect for the 1971, 1972, and 1973 crop-years. If poundage quotas do not pass, there will be no marketing quotas and no price support for the 1971 Burley crop. A similar referendum on the same question would then be conducted in 1972.

AIMS OF NEW PLAN
Aims of the poundage program are:
✓Get supplies in line with demand.
✓Stop the self-defeating race for higher yields.
✓Reduce government loan holdings and keep the price support program sound.

10 POLLING PLACES TO BE OPEN 8 TO 6 MAY 4 FOR VOTING

Ten polling places for the seven ASCS communities in Morgan county will be open for the May 4 burley tobacco marketing quota and price support referendum, the local ASCS office said this week. The polling places will be as follows —

WEST LIBERTY COMMUNITY — Courthouse

BLAIRS MILLS COMMUNITY — (1) Wrigley school or (2) Wendell Black's Store

CANNEL CITY COMMUNITY — (1) Lodge hall at Caney or (2) Community Church at Adele.

DINGUS COMMUNITY — White Oak Branch school at Dingus.

EZEL COMMUNITY — Dillard Murphy's Store at Ezel.

LENOX COMMUNITY — (1) Keeton's Grocery at Lenox, or (2) Kenny Brown's Garage Building at Matthew.

GRASSY CREEK COMMUNITY — Barker's Store at Grassy Creek.

All persons over 18 years of age who had a part in growing a 1970 burley crop are eligible to vote, both men and women.

Polling places will be open from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. Tuesday May 4, manned by members of the community ASCS committees.

Votes will be tabulated that evening in the County ASCS office. A majority of two-thirds of those voting is needed to continue quotas and price supports.

MAY 4TH REFERENDUM IS BURLEY GROWER'S LAST CHANCE, IS VIEW

To Those Interested in Tobacco:
There is a great misunderstanding about the burley tobacco program. The acreage program is OUT. If the poundage program is defeated May 4, there will be no burley program. NO SUPPORT PRICE.

Incorrect information has come from some newspapers and radios that the acreage program is still in effect. IT IS NOT. Senator Cooper, sponsor of the bill, told the group at Berea, yesterday that May 4 meant poundage or nothing.

Many letters come to our office from other than burley states concerning information on burley tobacco. The indications all point to much of the burley going to other states and the price going to the bottom like it did in the thirties. The economists are predicting that burley will average less than fifty cents this coming year if the support program is voted out. I also feel that we will not have a chance at another program if this is voted out since Congress is in such a turmoil over

With records as complete as they are today, and each marketing card with exact pounds on it, I don't believe there would be as much chance of someone getting a favor as has been with acreage. I am not in the habit of suggesting how a person votes, but I believe a tobacco grower should think carefully before voting no.

A NO vote means NO PROGRAM AND NO SUPPORT PRICE. A YES vote May 4 is our ONLY CHANCE to have a TOBACCO PROGRAM and a SUPPORT PRICE.

WATER SEEPING INTO DIRT FILL OF DAM MAY DELAY CAVE RUN JOB

Construction of the dam for Cave Run Reservoir may be delayed for as long as a year by trouble that has developed in the dirt-packed dam, according to story in last week's Bath County Outlook. Said the Bath County paper —

"The contractor has run into a serious snag in the earthen fill of the dam. Water is seeping out of the hillside into the fill dirt of the dam, causing it to be constantly soggy. Obviously, this is most undesirable in building a dirt-fill dam that must be perfectly packed down to withstand the pressures of water in this huge impoundment."

"The U. S. Corps of Engineers, we are told, tried to shift the blame to the contractor for this condition, but the contractor refused to accept it. It would seem the Corps was trying to pass the buck when, in actuality, it was this department that laid out and approved the plans for the dam.

"At the beginning, it could have probably been remedied with little trouble, but now it is a different story. In all probability, approximately 250 holes will have to be drilled in the dam. These would be filled with sand to provide sufficient drainage from within the earthen structure.

"Engineers have estimated it could delay completion a year and shudder to think of the additional cost. There are other problems up there, too, but one at a time seems to be more than enough."

DOGWOOD OPEN GOLF TOURNEY SET MAY 8 AND 9

The first annual Dogwood Open Tournament for men will be played Sunday and Monday, May 8 and 9, at the Pleasant Valley Country Club near West Liberty.

Scheduled in conjunction with the Dogwood Festival at West Liberty May 7 and 8, the event will be a 36-hole, stroke-play, scratch tourney with the first 18 holes being the qualifying round for the championship match.

The qualifying round will be played Saturday, May 8, at 11 a.m. and the championship and consolation rounds will be played Sunday, May 9, at 1 p.m.

Trophies will be awarded for first, second, and third place in both the championship and consolation rounds. A trophy also will be awarded to the lowest qualifier.

Deadline for entering the tournament will be Friday, May 7, at 6 p.m. An entry fee of $4 must be paid by this time.

Entry fees should be sent to Dogwood Open Golf Tournament, Pleasant Valley Country Club, Route 1, West Liberty, Ky. 41472.

The nine-hole golf course at the Pleasant Valley Country Club is in excellent condition, members report. Located on rolling knolls overlooking Caney Creek, and surrounded by high hills covered with green woodlands, the golf course is one of the most beautiful in Kentucky. Adding beauty to the setting during the tournament will be blooming dogwood dotting the surrounding hills.

Dogwood, just now beginning to bloom, is expected to be in full bloom during the two-day event.

Moon Well Incites Oil Fever In Area

Monitor Petroleum Corporation moved in a heavy-duty pump from Texas this week, and workers Tuesday were installing a pump jack on the firm's new deep well at Moon where flows of both oil and gas were hit in two "pays".

The well was drilled to the granite at 10,016 feet and casing was set to a depth of 10,000 feet. Halliburton Co. fractured the basal sands, then moved up to the 5,000 foot level and fractured a section of the Knox, which commenced producing oil at the rate of about 10 barrels an hour after the hole was acidized.

Later, a separator was installed to separate the gas and oil, and final testing of the well was delayed until the pump arrived from Texas.

Rink Strickland, Monitor division manager, said "it looks like a good well — a mighty good one." He estimated production may be 250 barrels a day. "Or even bigger," he added.

The well is on the farm of Fred Ison on Doc Ison Creek about seven-eighths of a mile north of Moon.

Since bringing in the Moon well, Monitor has made location for a second well in the area — this one on the farm of Steve Lewis on Fyffe Branch about a mile southwest of the Ison well and near Kentucky Highway 172 (the Elkfork-Point Creek highway).

Reports are heard this week that other companies have made or soon will make locations for wells in that area. City Service has made location for a deep well about a mile east of the Ison well. And reports indicate that two other companies soon will make locations south of the Moon well.

Rev. Carpenter To Hold Revival In West Liberty

Rev. William Carpenter of Ashland will commence a week's revival meeting at the Broadway Church of God in West Liberty Sunday, May 2 and it will extend through May 8. Services are to be held each evening at 7:30 o'clock. Carpenter is former pastor of the church, and he invites everyone to attend.

Mrs. Etta Brown of Relief shows hand-made stuffed dolls she plans to show at the upcoming Dogwood Festival set at West Liberty May 7-8. Some are authentic recreations of dolls that Mrs. Brown's mother made for her when she was a little girl. Others are entirely her own creations. All clothing for the dolls is entirely handmade by Mrs. Brown. Other creations which Mrs. Brown plans to display and sell at the festival and displayed above include crocheted rugs, hats, pillowtops, ties for men, cotton print "coolie" hats, and metal knitting needles made of galvanized wire and coat hangers. Mrs. Brown is the widow of the late Dewey Brown, a carpenter, farmer, and Baptist minister. A daughter of the late L. Sherman and Mary Elizabeth Coffee Gambill of Blaine, Mrs. Brown is the mother of four sons, Dewey E. Brown, Jr. of Paintsville, Proctor S. Brown of Salyersville, James Allen Brown of Lexington, and Jackson E. Brown of Belfontaine, Ohio.

Tripple Elkhorn Bringing In More Mining Machinery

Tripple Elkhorn Mining Company of Prestonsburg has brought in a additional machinery for its proposed strip mine operation in northern Morgan and southern Elliott counties, but work thus far has consisted mainly of building roads and facing up coal seams in the area around Redwine.

Some of the machinery is still working on the rural road down North Fork to Craney, which is being widened and extended to the old railroad bridge across Craney at the Rowan line.

The new machinery has been brought to Redwine where a road has been built to the top of the long ridges to the east and south of Redwine, which is the area to be operated. The road from Redwine goes up hill to the left of the old tunnel.

Near the top of the hill above the tunnel, bulldozers have "faced up" the coal seams in a number of places. And at one spot atop the ridge, bulldozers already have uncovered the coal in a small area.

Harry B. Ranier, president of the company, told this paper last week. "We want to run some test coal right now, and we are looking at some 10,000 acres we may develop. It could develop into a big operation, and we hope so."

Ranier has some 50,000 acres under lease or under option on the divide between the head tributaries of Little Sandy River and the Mordica. Straight Creek and Laurel tributaries of Elkfork of Licking River. The long ridges contain three seams of coal, 43 inches, 54 inches and near the top on some of the ridges a larger seam said to be from 8 to 11 feet thick.

Ranier proposes to truck the coal from Redwine down North Fork and across the old railroad bridge into Rowan and up Lick Fork to Clack Mountain where it will be unloaded into the conveyor of Lee Clay Products Co. and crushed at the foot of Clack Mountain, then loaded in railroad cars and taken over four miles of the Morehead & North Fork railroad to the C & O head tributaries of Little

MAY 4TH MAY BE LAST CHANCE BURLEY GROWERS HAVE TO SAVE THE BURLEY PROGRAM

May 4th may be the last chance burley tobacco growers have to save their allotment and price support program.

Tobacco has been under violent attack for some years — by many members of Congress, and by various organizations and foundations that conducted a well-financed "educational campaign" on TV against smoking, based on the Surgeon General's statement that cigarettes caused lung cancer (a statement that has not been proven).

So, with Congress and the nation in the mood it is in regarding tobacco, burley growers in the eight burley states don't know how lucky they are in getting the chance to vote on a new program that will keep allotments and price supports.

The law that permits the May 4 referendum was a result of a recalcitrant Congress by the prestige of a few men — respected and prestigious men like Senator John Sherman Cooper, Congressman Tim Lee Carter and Carl Perkins. And it is to their everlasting credit that they got Congress to go along, in view of the turmoil over cigarettes and the health scare.

Too, the burley program is restricted to a few states — a monopoly, so to speak, because it was based on the history of burley-growing when it was started back in the 1930's. The price-support program has made burley a profitable farm enterprise. And now other states want a share in it. No doubt, these other states wish the burley farmers would vote the poundage program down—then they could share in burley growing.

The new poundage allotment program, we think, is about as fair a program as could be devised. After a 5% across-the-board cut in allotments this year, the small growers are protected in future years by a stipulation that they may be cut only half as much, percentage-wise, as the bigger growers. Also, the new law has helpful features, like an insurance clause that lets farmers market up to 10% more in a good year and deduct it from his next year's allotment; also a stipulation that permits leasing of allotments within a county up to 15,000 pound quota.

Records of past production are complete for each farm, and each marketing card has the exact pounds on it, so there is less chance of someone getting a favor.

Burley growers should feel privileged to get the May 4th chance to continue an allotment and price support program.

Remember, the acreage program is not now in effect. A NO VOTE means NO PROGRAM and NO PRICE SUPPORTS.

So to save the program amidst a welter of turmoil over smoking and in the midst of hungry states wanting to share in tobacco, we cannot too strongly urge burley growers to be sure to vote in the May 4th referendum, and to VOTE FOR THE PROGRAM.

OBSERVATIONS • AND • PREDICTIONS

NOT ENOUGH VOTES — Only 55% of respondents to a Lexington Herald straw poll on poundage controls for burley tobacco voted "Yes" for controls. A two-thirds majority or 66.4% is needed to keep controls. In the Lexington straw poll 22.1% voted "No" on controls and 12.9% had no opinion.

RED RIVER DAM — Normal pool stage of the proposed Red River Reservoir, to be built downstream 5.2 miles from the Corps of Engineers original site, will be 703 feet above sea level. This will back the water to a level of four feet under the iron bridge, or lower bridge at the end of the Scenic Drive. Flood stage will be 56 feet higher, and this will back the water at maximum flood stage to within a few inches of the floor of the upriver concrete bridge at the mouth of the Swift Creek.

DOGWOOD FESTIVAL — We predict more people will attend West Liberty's Dogwood Festival May 7-8 than most local people expect. People like to come to West Liberty — former residents particularly, and a lot of people who have heard of "the Bluegrass County of the Mountains", and want to see it. Three items of business that need immediate attention — cleaning up and beautifying the town, listing all available rooms so that visitors may rent them, and setting out dogwoods and red buds. And when the visitors come to West Liberty, a lot will come in to subscribe for the of home paper — and we'll welcome them, of course.

DEMOCRAT FUND-RAISING — The Democrat party, in debt $9.3 million from the 1968 campaign, raised over $1 million at a spirited $500-a-plate dinner in Washington last week. Senator Muskie declared that Democrats are now "eager as a hound dog closing in on the rabbit." and Hubert Humphrey too was a spirited speaker.

STRAW POLLS — Former Gov. Bert Combs won straw polls on two university campuses recently. Students at Eastern State University voted 99% for Combs and 221 for Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford, and at Morehead University the vote was 309 for Combs to 77 for Ford.

SEVERANCE TAX ON COAL — Both major candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor — Combs and Ford — have come out in favor of a severance tax on coal. Combs in a speech at Kentucky Dam Village this week said he favors only one new tax, and that is a severance tax on coal, oil and gas, based on the market price of the three valuable products as they are extracted and marketed. Eastern Kentucky potentially is the richest section of the state, rich in coal, oil and gas. But without a severance tax, the area has become the poorest, as attested by the huge relief rolls and increasing thousands drawing food stamps. It should not be thus, and it would not if the extracted wealth properly contributed its fair share of government.

JAS. ELAM ATTENDING INDR CONSIDERY REUNION THIS WEEK

James Elam of West Liberty, Morgan County's only 33rd degree Mason, and a past Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky, is attending the spring reunion of the Indra Consistory at Covington which began Wednesday and will end Saturday. Elam was the state's Grand Master in 1963 and served as grand secretary 1964-65.

DEFINITION — Theory: A hunch with a college education. —Gosport.

BUSINESS HERE AND HEREABOUTS

TIMBER IN KENTUCKY — As Kentucky observed its 85th Arbor Day April 10 it is well to note that Kentucky has 12 million acres of commercial timberland, and that sawmills provide 18,000 persons with jobs. Kentucky forests offer over 60 species of commercial trees. Thus, it becomes clear that Kentuckians need to perpetuate its timber resources. Trees and lumber will increase in value in the future.

MORGAN A HOT SPOT — Morgan County's fossil fuels — coal, oil and gas — are making the county a "hot spot" as prospectors and developers phrase the situation. The increasing need for fossil fuels and the resultant high prices make them more feverishly sought after right now than any prospect ever evinced in hunting Swift's Silver Mine in the rock canyons along Swift's Creek and Red River. Monitor Petroleum Corp's two deep-test wells in eastern Morgan and Elliott, plus the hidden data gleaned by Ashland Oil in its deep test a few years ago on North Fork in northwest Morgan evidently prove the point that the deep formations under Morgan are rich in gas and oil. And now big coal operators are moving in to mine the thick seams of low-sulfur coal along the Morgan-Elliott line between the headwaters of Little Sandy and the Licking. There's talk of building a railroad to haul the coal. But this can be discounted, we think. The set-up is ample via a 21-mile truck haul to a ready-and-waiting crusher and siding of Lee Clay Products on the C & O near Morehead. And too, there's plenty of cheap crushed limestone in the area with which to neutralize the mine acid drainage through a new process discovered by Consolidation Coal in a pilot project in West Virginia. It all adds up to some ideal setups for the mined men.

COAL-HAULING RAILROADS — Biggest coal-hauling railroads of the nation are the Chesapeake & Ohio, B. & O., the Norfolk & Western and the Louisville & Nashville — and they're all doing pretty well, and their stock is rising almost daily on the Big Board. The C. & O. B. & O. first quarter earnings were "up substantially, and we're looking for even bigger increases the rest of the year," said an official last week. C. & O. B. & O. earned $3.8 million or $1.02 a share the first quarter compared to $2.5 million or 41 cents a share last year. Total earnings last year averaged $6.09 a share. Look for a big jump in this year's earnings of C. & O. B. & O. and also L. & N. and W. Coal is about the biggest business in the nation right now.

COAL PRICES MAY GO HIGHER — Oak Leaf Coal Division of Sherwood Diversified Services in a news letter to stockholders last week said it was expanding its surface mining operations in Mingo County, W. Va., and Pike County, Ky. — and predicted: "The Company expects current steam and metallurgical coal prices to hold steady for the next 12 months. After that, prices may 'go higher' in view of the growing demands for coal as an energy source. Coal production increased 30 million tons last year, up to a total of 590 million tons. Production probably will rise to 6.5 million tons this year. And industry sources see 850 million tons by 1980. Low-sulfur coal is in biggest demand because of anti-air pollution demands, and the demand for low-sulfur seams will rise. Appalachian seams are known for low-sulfur content."

SOCIAL SECURITY INCREASE — In about five weeks from now on June 3, Social Security recipients will get their May checks, the first ones that pay the new 10% increase. Later in June each SS recipient will get another check — a special one paying the 10% increase retroactively to January 1. Some 26 million Americans get SS checks, or about one of every 13 Americans. They represent retired workers, disabled and diseased workers and their dependents.

MORGAN COUNTY HISTORY — At last, Morgan County is about to get a published history. It will be known as EARLY MORGAN COUNTY and will contain about 300 pages. Arthur Johnson, Morgan county native and long a history teacher in local schools, is the author. He said this week he has almost completed the manuscript, and will get it to the printers in a few weeks. Mr. Johnson has been gathering material and writing on the history for several years. Students have helped collect a lot of the family records that will be contained in the volume. Mr. Johnson was born on Cow Branch. He has taught in several schools in the county, and is well grounded in Morgan county history. He says the volume will cover the period from the time the first settlers came into the region (about 1880) until 1948. It will have a general history of the county, also brief histories of each community, the first families to settle in the various communities, and family histories; also a chapter on Morgan county's part in the Civil War, its religion, folklore, and even early witchcraft. More about the book later, as we predict it will be much in demand.

SCS NOTES— MAY 16-23 IS SOIL STEWARDSHIP WK.

BY H. A. WALLACE

Soil Stewardship Week will be observed May 16-23. The theme for this year is "The World and They That Dwell Therein."

Purpose of the annual Soil Stewardship observed by Soil Conservation Districts throughout the nation is to encourage recognition of man's responsibility to care for the blessings of Nature bestowed upon us by the Creator, and to call man's attention to his duties as a steward of land, water, forest, and wildlife.

As Americans everywhere consider the damages that have been wrought upon our planet, the concept of preserving and using wisely the fruits of Nature has never been more important.

Tile drainage systems have been surveyed by SCS personnel recently for Grover Frederick, Albert Wirgo, and David Lindon.

CARL PERKINS ASKS CONGRESS FOR CAVE RUN DAM JOB FUNDS

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Representatives Carl D. Perkins, D-Ky., has called on Congress to appropriate $1,360,000 to speed work on the major recreation project planned for the Cave Run Reservoir in the Bath-Rowah-Menifee-Morgan County area.

Some $966,000 is for facilities such as water and sewer lines, boat launching ramps and beaches that must be installed before the reservoir begins to fill late next year. The remainder is for construction of KY 1018 and KY 1019, access roads to the recreation sites on the reservoir.

The Administration had sought only $102,000 for the development, despite the fact that the $966,000 worth of facilities were listed as non-deferrable.

"These are facilities that cannot be properly postponed and installed at some later date. They must either be built in the coming months, or the job will have been irretrievably botched," Perkins told a House appropriations subcommittee.

The Kentucky Congressman recalled that the Administration had taken the same attitude toward the long-planned Cave Run recreation project last year. It recommended $100,000 for it in the current fiscal year.

Area residents and the Kentucky Congressional delegation requested and won approval of a fiscal 1971 appropriation of $800,000 for Cave Run recreation development. The project is a joint undertaking by the Forest Service and the Army Corps of Engineers. The Forest Service has been assigned responsibility for developing the recreation facilities. Some 13 sites on the Cave Run reservoir are marked for recreation development.

"Some boat ramps have already been constructed, as well as fishing piers. Some 2600 feet of beach has been graded and prepared at one site. The water and sewer lines that will be below pool level are either completed or under contract," Perkins told the appropriations group.

Perkins recalled that the recreation project had originally been conceived as a major move to stimulate the economic growth of the entire area of Northeastern Kentucky.

"The planned facility, he said, 'would add greatly to the resources of the nation.'

ROBERT (BOB) DAMRON FOR RAILROAD COMMISSIONER

TO MY FRIENDS AND VOTERS OF DIST. 3—

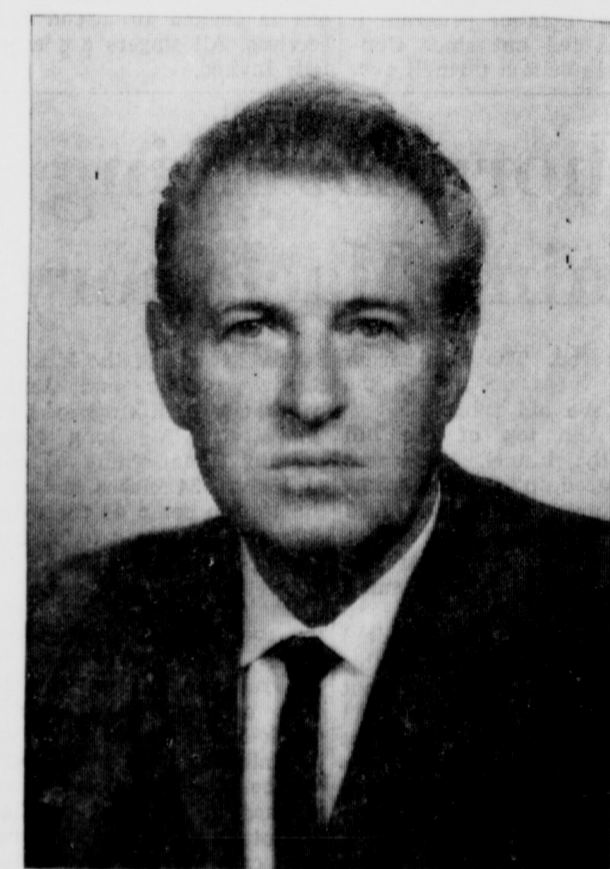

Again I appeal to you for your support in my race for Railroad Commissioner of District 3. Your loyalty to me in 1959, when you elected me your railroad commissioner, was greatly appreciated. Each item that was presented for action was given my most serious consideration before I made a decision.

I wish to serve you as your Railroad Commissioner for the next four years and I pledge that I will serve you as honestly and thoroughly as I have in the past.

Your vote and influence will be greatly appreciated.

MORGAN NATIVE DIES IN KANSAS

Mrs. Monrovia Testerman Jones, 94, of Nampa, Kansas died recently in a Nampa nursing home. She was a native of Morgan County and was a life-long member of the Christian Church. She was a niece of the late Aunt Jeston Gevedon of Grassy Creek and of C. F. Testerman, now 103, who resides in Maineville, Ohio.
Born at Grassy Creek, Ky. Nov. 17, 1876, she later attended Hazel Green Academy before marrying Alonzo C. Jones. In 1906, she and her husband moved to South Dakota, and then to Mountain Grove, Mo.
They moved to Chanute, Kansas in 1919 where they made their home until Mr. Jones' death. In 1957 Mrs. Jones went to Nampa, Kansas to be near her daughter, Mrs. Bernice Crofton.
She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Bernice Crofton of Nampa, Mrs. Clarice Crofton of Vallejo, Calif.; Mrs. Estelle Graves of Topeka, Kan.; and Mrs. Virginia Brummett of Dallas, Texas; by four sons, Carl E. Jones of Costa Mesa, Calif.; Vernon D. Jones of Nampa, Wendell H. Jones of Tracy, Calif., and Alfred C. Jones of Salem, Ore.; and by 12 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.
Funeral and burial were at Chanute, Kansas.

SIERRA CLUBS TO ASK BAN ON STRIP MINING

Member of the Sierra Club in Kentucky and Tennessee have agreed to ask their national board of directors to campaign for a total federal ban on the strip-mining of coal.
Carroll Tichenor, chairman of the club's Cumberland chapter, said that the proposed ban already has been approved by the club's 12-state Mid-west region.
Tichenor contended that strip-mining is destroying some of the most productive land in the Midwest and will produce "a desert which cannot be tolerated."
He said the land will be needed to produce food and wood products for the nation's growing population, and that scenic areas such as Eastern Kentucky will be needed as "an asylum for people wishing to escape crowded cities."
"We need some free to sit under to reason a little," Tichenor said.
He pointed out that the Sierra Club has never been asked to work for federal legislation outlawing an entire industry. In the past, the club's conservation efforts have been limited to individual issues, such as opposing the super-sonic transport or the trans-Alaskan pipeline.
Strip-mined coal is used largely for the production of electrical power, and Tichenor said he will ask the club to sponsor a study to determine whether the use of deep-mined coal is a practical substitute during the transition to some other energy source.
The next few years are critical in making the change, Tichenor continued. "Unless a ban against strip-mining is enacted soon by Congress, the nation will become almost totally dependent on the industry as a source of energy."
Tichenor said he will present the Cumberland chapter's position at the club's annual meeting in San Francisco May 1-2.

11 Jurors Picked For Murder Trial In Magoffin Co.

Jury selection continued Wednesday in the third day of a murder trial in Magoffin County Circuit Court.
Special Judge W. Major Gardner of West Liberty in the murder trial of Mrs. Jean Mann, 40, and a son, John Wesley Mann, 18, ordered 30 more prospective jurors be drawn in an effort to complete the trial panel.
Circuit Clerk James Allen reported 11 had been accepted by both sides after 100 extra jurors were examined Tuesday, and a regular panel of 29 on Monday.
Another regular juror and an alternate will be required.
The two are charged in the fatal shooting of County Attorney Arnett Mann in March 1969, at their home in Salyersville.

WALTER COX, 74, DIES IN PERRY COUNTY APR. 22

Walter K. Cox, 74, of Tribbey, Perry County, died at 7:10 a.m. Thursday, April 22, at the Appalachian Regional Hospital in Hazard following a long illness.
Born March 5, 1897, at Florress, he was a son of the late James William and Mary Jane McClain Cox. He was a retired coal miner.
Surviving are a son, Gilbert Cox of Tribbey; three daughters, Mrs. Mary Jane Lunsford, Mrs. Clara Fay Adkins of Carlisle, Ohio, and Mrs. Betty Rowland of Miamisburg, Ohio; five sisters, Mrs. Carrie Elam and Mrs. Nettie Hughes of West Liberty, Mrs. Mattie Elam of Winchester, Mrs. Willie Burton of Dayton, Ohio, and Mrs. Maude Easterling of Louisville; a brother, Tom Cox of Cottle, and 11 grandchildren.
Funeral was conducted at 1 p.m. Sunday at the Potter Funeral Home by Rev. Arlie Nickell. Burial in the Deborde Cemetery at Malone with Potter Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

CARLIE LEWIS DIES IN OHIO

Carlisle Lewis, 63, of Mansfield, Ohio and a native of Blaze, died unexpectedly at his home Feb. 5. A steelworker, Mr. Lewis was employed at Empire Reeves Steel Division, Cyclops Corp. at the time of his death. He and his wife, Nellie Hunt Lewis, resided at Blaze until 1942 when they moved to Mansfield.

He is survived by his wife; three sons, Kelly, Monroe, and Joe Lewis, all of Mansfield; two daughters, Mrs. Harry Fellure and Mrs. Gerald Hursh, both of Mansfield, one sister, Mrs. Collie Calihan of Mt. Carmel, Ind.; one half-sister, Mrs. Delbert Young, and one half-brother, Edgar Lewis, both of Dayton, Ohio.

Interment was at Hickory Flat Cemetery at Overpeck, Ohio.

Arthur Barker of Jephtha, an oldtime chairmaker, who plans to display and sell some of his chairs at the Dogwood Festival in West Liberty May 7-8, is shown at work with a wooden mallet, one of the three tools he uses to make his chairs. The only other tools used by Mr. Barker to construct his chairs are a Case pocket knife to form the pieces of the frames and a hand augur to drill holes. He uses no metal fasteners or glue of any kind to fasten his chairs together, using only the wood mallet to drill the rungs in place. His chairs are more solid than many factory-made chairs using metal screws. In addition, Mr. Barker weaves the hickory bottoms himself. He says it takes him from one to two months to complete one chair. Mr. Barker plans to demonstrate his craft at the Dogwood Festival. At top right is a rocker recently completed by Mr. Barker, similar to ones he plans to sell at the festival.

Mrs. Evelena Nickell of Stacy Fork, above, displays handcrafts she plans to display for sale at the Dogwood Festival, including rag dolls, and throw rugs from plastic bread wrappers. She is holding samples of twine dolls which are in big demand by her friends and neighbors. At left is a closeup of one of the colorful twine dolls.

Eli McGuire of Ezel is blind. But as a hobby, he makes wooden knitting needles. Using a pocket knife, Mr. McGuire makes the needles, shown below, from various types and shades of wood. Friends have found it impossible to confuse him in pairing up needles of different types of woods. Invariably, he will place the cedar needles with the cedar needles, not a difficult task due to the aroma of cedar. But he can also match up walnut needles and maple needles, etc., merely by the feel and texture of the wood, friends say. He plans to demonstrate his hobby at the Dogwood Festival and will have samples of his hand-carved needles for sale.

PUBLIC INVITED TO EZEL HIGH FIELD DAY TODAY

Ezel High School and Grade School is holding its annual Field Day today at the school and Principal Conrad Rowland invites the public to attend.

This morning, high school students will participate in public speaking competition, dramatic reading and music contests, and writing efforts will be judged, etc.

Booths featuring displays by the various departments will also be open to the public. Grade school students will participate in athletic events in the morning, and the afternoon will be devoted to athletic contests between various high school classes and other athletic competition.

Mr. Rowland also reminds that on May 7 Ezel High will hold its annual May Day Festival, including crowning of May Day royalty, winding the May pole, and other activities. The public is cordially invited to attend both events.

Dedication Of New Wells Union Church Addition Set May 2

A new $12,000 addition to the Wells Union Enterprise Baptist Church on Wells Hill will be dedicated Sunday, May 2, Rev. Arnold Helton, pastor, announced this week.

Preaching the dedication sermon will be Rev. Homer Evans of Martha, Ky., moderator of the Enterprise Baptist Assn.

Morning services will begin at 10 a.m. with dinner to follow at noon in the new church basement. Rev. Evans will deliver the dedicatory sermon at 2 p.m.

The 16x50 ft. addition, recently completed by Gerald Tyree, contractor, consists of four new Sunday school rooms and a 16x40 ft. basement. Two new restrooms also were added in the new addition.

Rev. Helton extends an invitation to everyone to attend the dedication.

Ezel Needle Club Meets On Thursday Of Each Month

The Ladies Needle Club of Ezel, organized about 13 months ago through the Northeast Council's Out-Reach Workers, meets each Thursday for an all-day assembly and pot-luck meal at the Ezel Community Center.

During Easter week, Mrs. Lorraine McGuire showed two films on the "Crucifixion and Resurrection of Christ". Sometimes as many as 18 or 20 attend.

Some women are making quilts, crocheting, and tatting some are making hairpin lace, some tote bags or garments; some making rugs, some patchwork cushions, some knitting.

The ladies wish to thank the Northeast Council for making it possible for them to attend the White House Conference on Aging at Owingsville recently.

eastern Morgan, and may pool their leases to drill an exploratory well somewhere in the area. Mr. Phillip Jenkins, Kentucky-West Virginia's field representative for the Big Sandy area, has been in Morgan in recent days looking after the properties.

Charleston Firm Seeking Leases

Another newcomer is Big Oil & Gas Co. of Charleston which had representatives in Morgan last week and this week. That company plans to obtain leases in some areas of the county, possibly with a view to sinking an exploratory well, it is reported.

Drilling 2nd Well In Rubewoods

Roland Amyx and associates of West Liberty and LeRoy, Illinois had location made this week for a second well in the Rubewoods-Mussel Shoals section of western Morgan County. Location is on the Anna Vance property about 2000 yards northeast of a well now drilling on the Ruth Bros. lease in the Rubewoods.

Richard Drake, using a cable-tool rig, is drilling the well on the Ruth Bros. lease and is down more than 4,000 feet. Paince Oil of Oil Springs will drill the second well, on the Vance lease.

Mr. Amyx and associates have more than 3,000 acres under lease in the Rubewoods-Mussel Shoals section.

Myra Carpenter Wins Easter Prize

Myra Carpenter, 6th grade student at Mad River Elementary School, Dayton, Ohio, won second prize for an Easter Coloring contest sponsored by the Dayton Shopping News on March 24. The prize was $10.00. Myra was chosen from many thousand entries. The picture was an Easter scene which consisted of Easter Bunnies and eggs. Myra is the daughter of M. Sgt. and Mrs. Demaree D. Elam of Wright Patterson Air Force Base, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Finley Litteral of Caney.

BURLEY SUPPORT FOR '71 WILL BE UP $2.90 A CWT.

Price supports on the 1971 crop of burley tobacco will average $71.50 a hundred pounds, a gain of $2.90 over the average level of supports on the 1969 crop.

The Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association, which administers the price support program in Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia and Missouri, said the increase reflects an uptrend in the parity index, the system used to relate supports to the costs of the things which farmers must buy.

The application of price supports to the 1971 crop depends, however, on whether growers voting in the May 4 referendum accept marketing quotas and supports by more than 66 2/3 per cent.

About nine per cent, or more than 47 million pounds of burley, was taken under price supports from the 1970 crop.

The increase in support prices for 1971 means gains in the various grade categories, prices for which will be set later.

For the 43,176,556 pounds taken by the Burley Co-Op in the five states in which it handles the program, an average of $72.57 was paid, reflecting a volume of higher-priced grades taken under supports.

Nearly 500 million pounds of burley are currently held by the associations handling the price support program. Heavy increases in recent years in these stocks, and steadily increasing yields per acre which were complicating the burley supply-demand situation, were the reasons why the control phase of the production control-price support program was changed.

The Burley Co-Op reiterated that growers should be certain they know that they must pass the program offered in the May 4 referendum or there will be no price supports on the 1971 crop.

Camp For Morgan Youths Planned

Leaders from a number of the organized communities in Morgan County met recently at the Kennedy Memorial Library to discuss methods of strengthening local development programs. Bill Bridges, Community Development Specialist from Quicksand, discussed involving youth in community development.

Leaders discussed and agreed to sponsor a one day youth camp in which boys and girls would camp for one day in a rustic setting. The program would include bringing and preparing their own meal on an open fire, a nature hike with discussion on the environment, a craft session, recreation, and a session on community needs and youth involvement.

A number of locations were discussed, however, the camp site was not identified. The camp will be held in early August and many of the details are yet to be planned. The camp will entail one community supplying that day's camp. Ages may run from 8 to 14.

STATEMENT BY RAY O. BROWN CANDIDATE FOR STATE REP.

I am taking this opportunity to state a few additional points that I think would be of interest to the people of the 71st Legislative District.

I will fight for any roads that will pull our counties closer together and to link all our people closer by having improved highways connecting I-64 and the Mountain Parkway.

As we have a state university in our district I will support its continued growth to the best of my ability. And by no means will I neglect our elementary and secondary schools.

I will also support legislation to exempt our social security recipients and those living on veterans disability from the sales tax on food and clothing. I am also of the opinion that since so many of our men must leave Kentucky for employment, it is unfair for them to pay state income taxes in that state and still pay it in ours.

I hope to see each of you personally before May 25 and I will appreciate your support in these endeavors.

—Ray O. Brown (Pol. Adv.)

DEATH CLAIMS MR. BIRCHWELL OF EZEL APR. 23

Emory Birchwell, 67, Ezel, died at 5:07 p.m. Friday, April 23, in a Lexington hospital following an extended illness.

Born April 8, 1904, in Magoffin County, he was a son of the late Burrell and Laura Wages Birchwell. He was a member of the Primitive Baptist Church at Ezel and was a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lona Birchwell of Ezel; four daughters, Mrs. Abbie Helton and Mrs. Greivie Faye Adkins, both of Dayton, Ohio; Mrs. Imogene Dyer of Middletown, Ohio; and Mrs. Della Margaret Harper of Ezel; three sons, Herbert and Charles Birchwell, both of Middletown, Ohio and Frankie Birchwell of Ezel; two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Watson of Jeffersonville and Mrs. Mell Stacy of Middletown, Ohio; seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services were conducted at 1 p.m. Monday at the Smyrna Church at Cutcut by the Rev. Will McCarty, with burial in the Morgan County Board of Education, Fork in Magoffin County. Herald and Stewart Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. LITTERAL OF WHITE OAK

Funeral services for Mrs. Amanda Ellen Litteral, 84, of White Oak, who died Thursday, April 22, were conducted at 10 a.m. Sunday, April 25, at the Lacy Creek Church of Christ by Rev. Arlie Nickell, Rev. Charley Frederick, and Elder Jimmy Adkins.

Interment was in the South Fork Cemetery at Malone under the direction of Herald and Stewart Funeral Home.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Mabel Adkins of West Liberty and Mrs. Nettie Coffey of Harman, Tenn.; eight sons, Clarence, Sam, John, and George Litteral, Jr. of West Liberty, Leonard Litteral of Williamson, Ohio, Luther Litteral of Royalton, and James Harvey and Ed Litteral of White Oak, and 52 grandchildren.

Mrs. Litteral was the widow of the late George Litteral, who preceded her in death in 1954.

KNIFE SWAPPING, and trading in Indian relics, old coins and watches will be a special event held in conjunction with the Dogwood Festival in West Liberty — but for one day only, Saturday, May 8 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the high school gym. Collectors and traders in knives, coins, Indian relics and watches from a wide area will occupy booths in the gym in a day of trading supervised by Harold Barber, assisted by other knife traders and collectors, Marvin Burton, Langley Franklin, Charles Day and Paul Williams. Booths may be rented at $3 each. Barber, who has a collection of over 265 knives that have been valued at more than $4,000, will have his entire collection on display (but not for sale). Barber's collection of 265 knives is shown in top photo. And the bottom photo is a close-up of them. He has more than 40 brands of barlow-type knives. The middle tier, top to bottom, shows some of them in this order—Remington Barlow, Russell Barlow, Shapleigh Barlow, and a Winchester Barlow valued at $100. Knives at left are a Sword, and a Case Tester. At right are a Diamond Edge and an E. C. Simmons. Admission is free to the Knife Swapping event.

SUFFERS STROKE

Mr. Edward Conley, 41, Route 1, West Liberty, suffered a stroke Wednesday morning, April 28, at about 11 a.m. at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Myrtle Hunt of Grassy. Mr. Conley was taken to Dr. Bellamy and then to U. K. Medical Center, Lexington where he remains a patient.

Can Morgan County Afford To Give Up Over $13,000,000 Income For Next Five Years?

Over the last 5 years, BURLEY TOBACCO has brought $13,050,775 to Morgan County farmers. This money circulates to the benefit of the entire county, and only PRICE SUPPORTS keep burley a money-making crop.

TO KEEP PRICE SUPPORTS, VOTE YES

in the Referendum MAY 4, 1971

THE QUESTION

Don't be MISLED.

There will not be any other program offered!!

Are you in Favor of Marketing Quotas for Burley Tobacco for the Three Years Beginning October 1, 1971?

☒ YES

☐ NO

Don't be MISLED.

There will not be any other program offered!!

VOTE YES

Burley Growers.....

This Question, stated on YOUR Ballot when you VOTE, represents the ONLY tobacco program which will be offered.... POUNDAGE QUOTAS AND PRICE SUPPORTS.

Unless Burley Growers VOTE YES and adopt this program, there WILL NOT be any PRICE SUPPORT PROGRAM for your crop this fall (1971).

In addition to Saving PRICE SUPPORTS, the new FARM POUNDAGE QUOTAS FOR BURLEY TOBACCO also has several other advantages:

LOUIS ISON OF FARM BUREAU ASKS SUPPORT OF BURLEY PLAN MAY 4TH

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 23, 1971: Kentucky Farm Bureau President Louis F. Ison today called on all burley tobacco growers to unite to save the burley program by voting "Yes" in the grower referendum May 4.

A "Yes" vote in the referendum, Ison said, will be a vote to retain price supports and production control for burley tobacco.

A "No" vote, he added, will be a vote to abolish the total price support-production control program for burley.

"The choice in the referendum," Ison said, "is between having a burley program or not having a program. There are no other alternatives."

Ison indicated he was stressing this point because some growers apparently feel that if the program being offered is defeated, they will still enjoy price supports.

"This is a misconception," Ison commented, "and it is vital that all growers be aware that if the 'No' votes prevail May 4, we aren't going to have a tobacco program."

Ison said there are many reasons, in addition to the preservation of price supports and production control, for growers to vote "Yes" May 4.

"The program to be voted on has more protection and more advantages for farmers than any we have ever had, and its approval will retain for burley tobacco its prominent position in Kentucky's total economy," Ison remarked.

"I sincerely hope," he concluded, "that every producer of burley tobacco will carefully weigh the alternatives and join in assuring a sound future for burley tobacco by approving the program May 4."

SALYERSVILLE HAS CRITICAL WATER PROBLEM

SALYERSVILLE — Salyersville Mayor J. W. Carpenter said Monday the city's water well had reached the allowable maximum salt content and later recommended to the city council that it endorse immediately federal action on a portion of the Royalton Reservoir project on upper Licking River, which calls for construction of a water reservoir in the Rockhouse area.

The water well is Salyersville's only source of water. The Rockhouse water reservoir would be a 60-acre water-hold which would provide storage for 100 million gallons of water for Salyersville.

Mayor Carpenter said this would be a sufficient supply for all projected development for Salyersville and Magoffin County for the next 20 years.

The city well was dug in 1933. Attempts to build a second well produced total salt water. The mayor said residents of several sections of this county were facing the same problem and hauling water daily from the city. He termed the problem acute. The well is pumping 200,000 gallons of water a day.

Time for the special council meeting has not yet been announced.

POLICE JUDGE AT JACKSON DIES

JACKSON, Ky. — Jackson Police Judge Kelly New died April 16 in Central Baptist Hospital in Lexington. He was 71, and one of Breathitt county's leading citizens. Retiring from the L & N Railway after 47 years of service, he devoted most of his time to community and county affairs. He was a Mason and had been District Grand Master.

Our nation needs nearly 150,000 additional teachers of handicapped children to meet the needs of approximately five million such children of school age, says the Easter Seal Society.

Wildflower, Nature Art Conference Set At Carter Caves Park

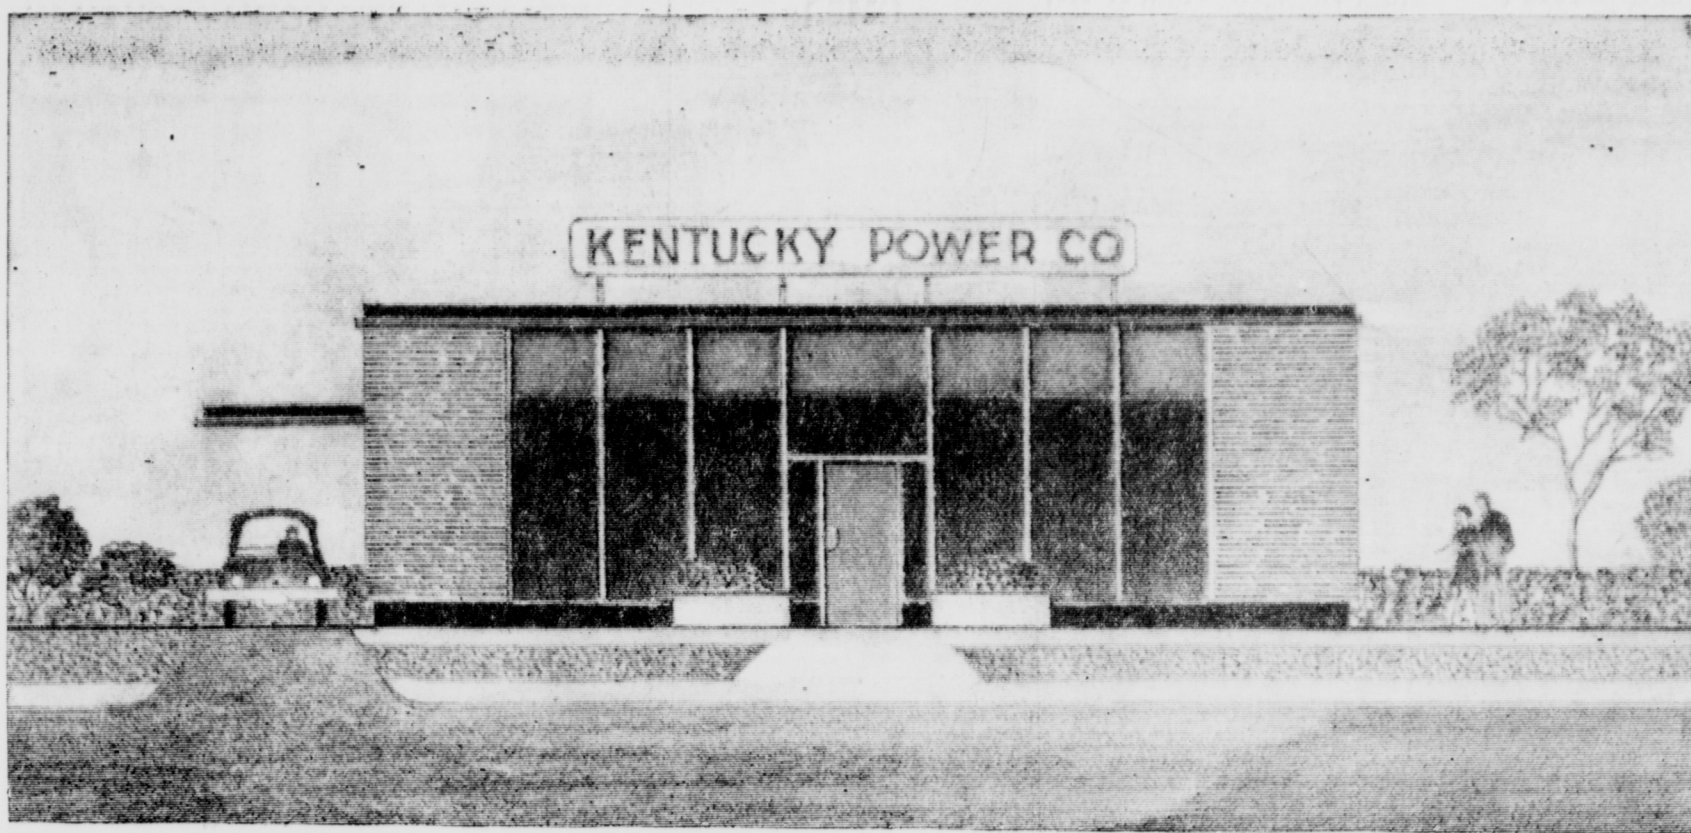

GRAYSON, Ky. — The Kentucky Society of Natural History will sponsor its annual spring wildflower and nature art conference April 30 through May 2 at Carter Caves State Park. Field trips and workshops will be conducted by leaders experienced in botany, photography and nature art.

Nature artists Charles Harper and Nellie Meadows will be among the leaders.

All events are open to the public for a registration fee of $1. Registration begins at 3 p. m. in the lobby of the park lodge on Friday, April 30. Lodging and meals are to be individually arranged for by participants.

A Kentucky Derby party will be on the schedule for Saturday afternoon, May 1.

ARCHITECT'S DRAWING OF NEW OFFICE BUILDING Kentucky Power Company plans to build in West Liberty, probably this year. The building will measure about 42 feet by 60 feet and will cost around $140,000. The office will have a drive-in window for the convenience of customers. It also will feature a conference-type meeting room which will be available for public meetings, etc., and a show room to display modern electric appliances. Storage space in the rear of the building will contain supplies for the company's service vehicles. The new building will be located on Prestonsburg Street near the West Liberty Christian Church.

COOPER URGING BURLEY FARMERS TO APPROVE NEW SUPPORTS MAY 4

SENATOR COOPER

Senator John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.) last week urged burley growers to keep their price support program, and to vote for it in the referendum on May 4, as they have done every three years in the past. Speaking at Berea—which he said he chose as convenient to as many burley growers as possible from all areas — Cooper said the price support program "is clearly in the best interest of all burley growers — large and small," and that the poundage program "will be a better program than acreage, and fair to all. Whatever their present acreage and wherever they are located."

Senator Cooper emphasized that the referendum is not to choose between the acreage allotments used in the past and poundage controls, "the Congress has passed the burley poundage bill and the President has signed it. Acreage controls for burley tobacco have been ended. Poundage will be the method of control in the future, if two-thirds of those voting approve. If so, you will have the 90 percent price support program for burley tobacco, and it will be an effective program."

"But unless two-thirds of the burley growers in all the States vote for the program," Cooper said, "there will be no price support — and there will be unlimited production of burley tobacco, which would drive down prices. I believe that would be a disaster for burley growers in Kentucky."

The Kentucky Senator pointed out that the new program includes safeguards and advantages to growers not available under the old acreage program, or under the acreage-poundage plan proposed several years ago. For example, the law guarantees that no farm quota can be reduced more than 5 percent in any year.

Senator Cooper said that he was especially glad that the poundage program includes a special small farm provision. Growers now having one-half acre or less could be reduced only half of whatever reduction may be ordered in 1972 and 1973 — that is, not more than 2½ percent. After 1973, Cooper indicated that further reductions may not be needed and cited USDA figures predicting that total income from the crop could be expected to increase.

Senator Cooper, who introduced and sponsored the bill in the Senate, said that the poundage plan as finally adopted was supported by all Members of Congress in both Houses representing burley districts. He explained how the acreage control program got into difficulty — through increasing yields per acre and a recent decline in the use of burley tobacco. In presenting the advantages of the poundage plan, he called attention also to its crop insurance and leasing features.

Each farmer has now received his poundage quota, Senator Cooper pointed out, and is in a position to make a sound judgment whether he wishes to produce and sell that amount, with price support, or to have no production controls and no price support. Cooper noted also the 3c increase price support announced recently for the 1971 crop, and said he had been informed by the Department of Agriculture that price support levels under poundage would continue to increase each year.

Without the change to poundage, Cooper said a 30 percent cut would have been ordered under the acreage program this year with further cuts proposed year after year. He pointed out that effective controls are the essential requirement of having 90 percent of parity price support, and that if a surplus was allowed to continue to build up, the program would lose public support, and could not be maintained by its friends in the Congress.

Recalling that he had secured, in 1948 with the late Senator Barkley, 90 percent price support for tobacco — when ever two-thirds of the growers vote for the program — Senator Cooper said he believed farmers knew his deep and continued interest in their well-being.

"The poundage plan is an opportunity to save our tobacco price support program," Cooper declared, "and I believe I have made it possible for you to do so. It will maintain the income of burley farmers, and the agricultural economy of rural areas throughout Kentucky."

Not every dead-beat is a pauper — some are well-to-do.

MUCH TALENT EXPECTED AT EZEL OPRY

Plans for the 14th Annual EZEL OPRY to be held in the gymnasium at Ezel on Saturday night, May 1, have been finalized. Many groups from Morgan and nearby counties have accepted invitations to participate in the big event.

Included in the Opry will be A. M. DeBusk and band from Morgan; Rowland Dunn from Wolfe County; the Charles Brothers from Lee County; the Whitely Brothers from Elliott County; Ricky Skaggs from Lawrence County; The Blue Valley Boys from Rowan County; and the Prelins from Morgan County.

Proceeds from the program, which will begin at 7:30 p. m., will be used as scholarships by two graduating seniors of Ezel High School. Richard Jett will produce and direct the program.

Easter Seal donations have made possible scholarships and fellowship for advanced study by more than 700 doctors, therapists, and other professional workers to serve the handicapped.

Burley Producers Unite

VOTE 'YES'

May 4 To Save The Burley Tobacco Program.

A "YES" VOTE IN THE MAY 4 BURLEY REFERENDUM IS A VOTE TO:

- Continue price supports and thereby assure growers a fair price
- Keep burley supply in line with demand.
- Continue the Burley Tobacco Growers Co-op's price support "pool" which buys any burley passed over by tobacco companies.
- Insure all growers their share of the market.
- Provide protection to growers against crop failure or loss due to fire, theft, etc.
- Allow leasing up to 15,000 pounds within county lines.

These are some of the advantages of a "YES" vote. If a two-thirds "YES" vote is NOT OBTAINED in the May 4 referendum, THERE WILL BE NO BURLEY TOBACCO PROGRAM AND BURLEY GROWERS WILL NOT ENJOY THE FEATURES LISTED ABOVE.

Everett Stone at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Lemaster, in Ashland. (Mrs. Lemaster is the former Bessie Fyffe of West Liberty).

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin street-length dress with white lace overlay. The dress was fashioned with a rounded neck and an empire waist. Her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a Dior bow. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with blue streamers.

Miss Jo Ellen Hunt, maid of honor, was attired in a light blue street length dress with a matching headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white and blue carnations with blue streamers.

Ronnie Simpson served as best man.

A reception was held after the wedding with Mrs. Everett Stone, Mrs. James Blevins and Mrs. Opal Fields assisting. The bride's table was decorated with a white lace tablecloth, a three-tiered wedding cake flanked with silver tapered candle holders with blue candles.

The bride's mother was attired in a beige long sleeve knit dress with brown accessories and a corsage of brown and white carnations.

The bride's grandmother wore an off-white long sleeve knit dress with black accessories and a corsage of red and white carnations.

(All of the wedding party dresses were made by a great-aunt, Mrs. Bernice Fyffe of Columbus, Ohio formerly of West Liberty).

The bride attended Paul Blazer High School in Ashland. The groom graduated from Prichard High School in Grayson and is employed at Armo Steel Corporation in Ashland.

The couple are residing at 1031 Bryne Street, Ashland.

POLLUTION ESSAYS PUBLISHED

Recently, Mrs. Dorothy Wheeler's fifth grade class at Morgan County High School was asked to write essays on the subject of pollution. Four essays later were selected for publication. This week, the first, written by Rocky Joe Blanton, is published below. The others will be published as space permits.

POLLUTION

Pollution can effect us in many ways, take air pollution for instance, the automobile has been charged with being the worst polluter of all. It alone produces an estimated 86 million tons of pollutants per year. The way automobiles pollute the air is the exhaust fumes coming out of mufflers producing carbon monoxide. Factories are another kind of air pollution. The smoke from their smokestacks pollutes the air. Although it ranks last as an air polluter, burning garbage does pollute the air. Not only does air pollution pollute the air, it cause disease such as emphysema, bronchitis, and lung cancer.

Litter hurts us too. If litter is thrown on the road someone may wreck trying to dodge it. When litter is thrown down it makes America look bad. When bottles are thrown along the roads a car can come along and run across it and blow a tire. Also if they get broken someone could step on them and injure themself.

Water pollution is harmful also. Open sawmills is one source of water pollution. The sawdust get in the water and

GRANDDAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. FRANK SHAVER MARRIES IN OHIO

Bible Baptist Church in Xenia, Ohio was the scene Friday evening, March 26, of the wedding of Joan White and Dennis Hohn. Rev. Clyde Jones, Jr. officiated at the six o'clock ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Ernest and Frieda Shaver White of 1391 Raybell Drive, Xenia. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hohn, also of Xenia. The new Mrs. Hohn is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shaver of Pomp.

A white street-length dress of nylon over satin was worn by the bride, who was given in marriage by her father.

The dress was designed with a bouffant skirt, satin bodice under molded lace, and lace elbow length sleeves. Her fingertip veil of silk was attached to a satin head band and bow. Her flowers were carnations with pink rosebuds.

Miss Carol Smart of Xenia, and David Hohn, the bridegroom's brother, were attendants. Miss Smart wore a lavender street-length dress, pinned with a white carnation corsage.

Ushers were Bob White of Louisville, Ky., brother of the bride, and Bill White of Yellow Springs, the bride's uncle.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church basement. Hostesses were Mrs. Donald Tharp, Mrs. Milton Campbell and Mrs. Arthur Phillips.

The couple will reside in Fort Hood, Tex. where the bridegroom is stationed with the U. S. Army. A 1969 graduate of Xenia High School, he recently completed a tour of duty in Vietnam.

Mrs. Dulin, who has been making quilts "ever since I can remember," says she can make any kind. She is holding a pieced quilt made in the "double wedding ring" pattern. Lying beside her, from left, are quilts in "snake's trail," postage stamp, and sunflower patterns. Appliqued quilts on back of couch are from left,

Pansy, poppy, and southern lady. Raised at Lenox and Sand Lick, Mrs. Dulin, is the wife of Jim Dulin. They are former residents of Zag and have three grown children, Bernice, Sue, and Dorsey Dulin. Mrs. Dulin will be one of many Morgan County artisans who will have their handwork on display at the festival, which will feature for sale probably the largest assortment of authentic mountain handcrafts ever to be gathered in one place.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

REGARDING LOCAL FAMILIES

The Courier—

I hope you will be kind enough and allow space for me to say hello to and make a request of many of our cousins in and around Morgan County, relatives of the McGuire, Lykins, Brown, and Nickell families.

My request is that any of you who are interested in being included in the genealogical records of these families I started several years ago, please take pen and paper when you go to your family cemeteries, as most of you will be doing soon around Memorial Day May 30.

I will appreciate any family names, dates of birth and deaths and the names of the cemeteries and will be glad to include them in this genealogy. I hope to have information compiled and ready for publication in about two more years.

I began this research quite a few years ago I started taking notes from the older family members, including my father-in-law, the late W. C. Nickell of Matthew, and others. I have gotten data from quite a few cemeteries in Morgan County and at the county clerk's office in West Liberty and from other genealogists who have done considerable research on these families, such as Harlan Brown of Ashland, Roy Nickell of West Liberty, and Demima Spotes of Champaign, Ill. on the McGuire, Nickell, and Brown families, and Lena Wells Voirs of Vanceburg and Mrs. W. E. Bach of Lexington on the Lykins family.

I need a lot more information to make a more interesting genealogy. So I will appreciate and be glad to include any information any of you can get for me.

Also, please include names and dates of birth of yourself and living relatives, who they married, etc.

I would like information from descendants of John Nickell who settled on Red River, and was a brother of Isaac Nickell, born 1775, and "Big" Joseph Nickell, born 1970. All were sons of Joseph Nickell born 1730 - died 1829. Isaac and "Big" Joe settled in Morgan County.

Hope to get down to Morgan County for "Dogwood Festival" or Memorial Day. Hope to hear from many of you.

Sincerely,
Alma Nickell

IN APPRECIATION

To our friends who were so helpful to Mrs. Nola Ray Craft in the illness and passing of her husband, H. C. Craft. To those who brought food, who sat up nights, and to those who stood by her side, prayed with her in silent prayers, to the nurses who were so good to her, we thank you from the bottom of our hearts. May God bless each and every one of you.

Mrs. O. B. Carpenter

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Elam — while there is no school. Mrs. Winford Williams is very ill at this writing. Most of her children were in to see her Sunday.

Mrs. Winford Kennard was taken to Dr. Bellamy at West Liberty Saturday for treatment.

ALWAY — BETTER BUYS AT BREWER'S

IN THE EARLY 1900's it took three spans of mules—or is it four—to haul this steam boiler for an oil drilling rig up West Liberty's Main Street. The photo is from one found by Ethel Phillips in the papers of her mother, the late Lula Belle Elam, and it was reproduced by local photographer Lanny Franklin. In the days of mud streets this was a common sight, says Bill Carter, who remembers when four teams pulled oil drilling rigs to locations in Morgan county. Building at left is the former home of Charles Keyser, then the Commercial Bank and the Cole Hotel, with the drummers' display room between. Further along is the court house, then the old Commercial Inn (later Dr. Murray's hospital). Enlarged reproductions of this photo will be on sale during the Dogwood Festival May 7-8.

VOTE FOR

JOE STACY
FOR SENATOR

"A WORKING SENATOR"

COMMITTEE FOR THE ELECTION OF JOE STACY URGES
VOTERS TO INVESTIGATE THE RECORD OF JOE STACY
AND HIS CHIEF OPPONENT

The record will show that Joe Stacy was a working senator. The record will show that Joe Stacy was on the job working for his people and his Party. It will show that Senator Stacy is a leader. His fellow Democrats selected him, even though he was a Junior Senator, as Majority Whip of the Senate; and they also appointed him as a member of the important Senate Rules Committee. The record will also show that Joe Stacy has never yielded to the interests of pressure groups but has always represented the people.

Probably the most important Legislation Joe Stacy sponsored was the Bill to eliminate the sales tax on farm machinery. Every State Senator in the State of Kentucky gives him credit for the passage of this legislation.

His chief opponent, also, has a record. He was State Senator for 8 years, having served from 1962-1968 and the Senate Journal shows the following:

	No. Bills Considered by Senate	No. Times Opponent Absent
1962	354	101
1964	261	81
1966	317	157
1968	372	186
TOTAL 1304		525

He was absent about 40% of the time. We invite you to learn why he chose to absent himself almost half the time he served in the Legislature. The Senate Journal shows that he failed to vote on important legislation pertaining to Education, Highways, Workman's Compensation, Veterans' Benefits and Social Services.

The Senate Journal will show that during two terms - a total of 8 years Joe Stacy's chief opponent sponsored only one Bill. He, in fact, was not even present to vote on the only Bill he sponsored. Whether the Bill was good or bad, is it any wonder it failed to pass?

The tax-burdened citizens of this District should remember only too well how this man, for reasons best known to him, voted for Nunn's 5% Sales Tax. Senator Joe Stacy voted "NO".

VOTE FOR JOE STACY FOR STATE SENATOR

Joe Stacy is truly a man of stature. He is sober, reliable, and a good family man. We most sincerely think that he deserves your vote.

Spring
is Here!

AND TO CELEBRATE WEST LIBERTY'S HOLDIN' A CELEBRATION MAY 7-8

THE LATCHSTRING'S OUT YOU ALL COME! TO THE MORGAN COUNTY DOGWOOD FESTIVAL MAY 7TH AND 8TH

WHEN HEARTS ARE LIGHT AND SMILES TURN
SUNNY IT'S SPRING!

... TIME for fun, time to blossom out in new clothes, start a garden, spruce up the home, check the car, enjoy active sports, relax and play, go places and do things. And in Morgan County, who puts more smiles in Spring? Local merchants, that's who. Don't miss their sparkling selections and lively ideas for you, your family, and home. This year, the following Morgan County merchants take pride in inviting you to attend West Liberty's first Dogwood Festival May 7-8, a time reserved for their customers to come to town and display, trade, and sell their own wares on Main Street. Possibly the largest display of mountain handcrafts ever to be gathered in one location will be on display in West Liberty during the festival. Morgan County artisans will display coverlets, pieced quilts, dolls, handcarved toys and what-nots, cane chairs, hickory baskets, hundreds of items, all mountain-made. There'll be antiques, Barlow knives, homemade candies and cakes, swappin' and tradin' mountain style. Don't miss it.

Yes, you're invited to West Liberty for a weekend of tradin', swappin', visitin' and listenin' to some dandy good high school bands. In addition, there'll be mountain style pickin' and singin' and rock music for the young folks. During the two-day event, the business section will become a mall with booths filled with Mountain-made handcrafts for sale or trade. There'll be needlework of all kinds, old-fashion hand-pieced quilts, cane bottomed chairs, hickory baskets, stuffed dolls, home-made foods, antiques, muzzle-loading rifles. A highlight of the festival will be an art show and sale featuring drawings, water colors, oils, and pastels by professional artists from throughout Kentucky and elsewhere. All this amid the greening hills with dogwood a-bloom . . .

Don't miss it!

BLACKSMITHING, one of the oldest crafts, is rapidly becoming a lost art. The village blacksmith, who accumulated his knowledge of metals via a lifetime spent at the forge with hammer and anvil, has been replaced by college-trained metallurgists and technicians with precision lathes and die-cutting instruments. About the only task left for the remaining blacksmiths today is the farrier's trade, the shoeing of horses, as practiced by Caesar Spencer, above, of Insko. Mr. Spencer, who began blacksmithing in 1930, comes from three generations of blacksmiths. When this photo was made, Mr. Spencer was happily at work shoeing a pony for Earl Reed of Caney.

APPOINTMENTS TO ACADEMIES OF THE ARMED FORCES SET

WASHINGTON, D. C. — It was announced today by Congressman Carl D. Perkins that he is accepting applications for appointment to the United States Air Force, Military, Naval, or Merchant Marine Academy, classes entering June, 1972.

The Civil Service Commission will conduct a written examination on July 6, 1971 for men who wish to be designated for appointment. The examination will be repeated on August 17. Its purpose is to aid the Congressman in his selection of candidates to the four academies. The tests will be given in various areas throughout the 7th District as well as in other examining centers throughout the nation, and all arrangements will be made by Congressman Perkins.

Any young man living in the 7th Congressional District interested in an academy nomination should notify Representative Perkins, Room 2252 Rayburn Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20515 for further details.

KEATON RESIDENT GUSTA EVANS DIES

PAINTSVILLE, KY. — Gusta Evans, 55-year-old lifetime resident of Keaton, died April 16 in a Louisville hospital. He was a son of Warren and Rissie Kelly Evans and was married to Juanita Franklin. Proctor Evans of Keaton and Homer Evans of Martha are brothers, and Mrs. Vesta Sparks of Grayson and Mrs. Goldie Skaggs of Keaton are sisters.

A historical marker on the courthouse lawn at Sandy Hook, Elliott County seat, shows the county was named in 1869 for John M. Elliott.

BIG BASS caught by former Morgan resident Jim McKenzie of Lexington. McKenzie caught the bass while he and his wife were vacationing recently at Kentucky Lake. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. McKenzie of West Liberty.

ODDS & ENDS

BY EARL KINNER, JR

April 20 — Sunday morning, son Greg and I fished in Elk Fork—the first time in two years. The sun was well up and warm when we left home—too late in the day, really, for the fish to be hitting. But the warm sun and the rebud and service trees a-bloom on the hillsides convinced us the trip would be worthwhile whether the fish were hitting or not.

We found the creek low and clear for this time of year. After digging a bucket of mud eels for bait, we retraced our steps back downstream to a well-remembered hole which in the past had proved productive.

As we rigged our rods, a mourning dove cooed from a hillside nearby. Its melancholy notes drifted down to us on a slight breeze which refreshed but scarcely rippled the water, a reminder of other pleasurable hours spent at the same spot. The only other sound we noticed was made by a flock of blackbirds scratching in a newly plowed field just upstream.

We lingered there for a good while to enjoy the morning, the companionship, and to savor our discovery that the bass released in Elk Fork last summer by the Morgan County Sportsman's Club and the State Department of Fish and Wildlife had survived. We didn't catch any. They weren't hitting. But we saw at least 20 bass ranging in size from six or seven inches to 12 or 13 inches.

In addition, we saw countless sunfish, small minnows, tadpoles, and bugs, a sure sign of a healthy stream.

Veteran bass fishermen say that not too many years ago, Elk Fork was one of the most productive bass streams in the area. Catches of three- and four-pound bass were not uncommon, they say.

Rotteness and ignorance put an end to that. But the stream survived. When we commenced fishing Elk Fork in the late 1950's fishing had picked up. A bucket of mud eels on a spring morning frequently yielded a stringer of 10- and 11-inch bass and usually a scad of sunfish and redeyes.

In 1968, the stream was really on the mend. That year, this scribe seldom went further than one particular shady hole which was chock full of bass, of which we caught a few now and again.

A 15-mile fish kill caused by escaping wastes from a small strip mine on the headwaters ended that.

As a result of last year's restocking, a lot of folks can once again enjoy a lot of good angling in Elk Fork, and (judging from the number of bass we saw on our trip Sunday) for a long while to come. We hope.

The battle by conservationists to preserve East Kentucky's scenic Red River Gorge is nearly over. Like most all controversies within the American political system, it's ending in a compromise.

A dam will be built. But it will be located at a downstream site which will preserve most of the scenic gorge area and at the same time provide flood protection and a water supply for residents downstream.

More skirmishing can be expected. Conservationists should and probably will continue to press for a lower pool level than that recommended recently by the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

But the major battle is over. The conservationists have won. Like many others who are acquainted with the Red River Gorge, we would have preferred no dam. Damage from floods could have been checked by other methods. The need for a water supply is questionable.

Nonetheless, we're gratified at the outcome, for the battle to save the gorge was born on the editorial page of this newspaper.

It was this newspaper which first published news stories calling attention to the fact that no public hearings were held in the area to allow opponents of the dam to be heard, and that the original decision to dam the Red River Gorge was made by Congress on the basis of information supplied solely by the Army Corps of Engineers—hardly a disinterested party.

Later, other, more prestigious, voices took up the cause, among them the Sierra Club, the Louisville Courier-Journal, U.S. Senator John Sherman Cooper, who eventually engineered the compromise agreement, and last, but not least, Kentucky Governor Louie B. Nunn, who sided with the conservationists after a secret trip to view the gorge firsthand.

There were many others. But the man who started it all was Harold Barber of West Liberty, a skilled wildlife specialist who throughout the long controversy worked quietly and diligently behind the scenes to provide concerned people with factual information about the gorge, its flora and fauna. Thoroughly dedicated to the principles of responsible conservation and well acquainted with the unique characteristics of the Red River Gorge area, it was he who five years ago proposed the first editorial to appear in this newspaper advocating preservation of the gorge.

It was no small undertaking that Mr. Barber proposed. But slowly and surely, as the controversy developed and more information on the subject was made available in the press, an informed and determined segment of the public, working within the political system, accomplished what scoffers at first declared was impossible. Their success in forcing a compromise on the Red River dam issue constitutes an unprecedented and momentous victory for the conservationists in Kentucky and America. No longer will the Army Corps of Engineers—with the blessings of an unquestioning and acquiescent Congress—be permitted to build unneeded dams when and where THEY choose. Hereafter, the voice of responsible conservationists will be heard.

Disciples of Christ Urge Anti-Strip Mine Laws for Kentucky

COVINGTON, Ky. — Delegates of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) concluded a three-day assembly here with resolutions calling for anti-strip mining laws and condemning "hypocritical" attitudes toward drug use.

The 5,000 delegates gave near-unanimous approval to a measure condemning adults for imbibing alcohol, and criticized the "hypocrisy of adults" who continue to drink while simultaneously condemning youth's use of drugs.

The group called on its ministers to "give as much time to publicizing the problems associated with alcohol abuse as they give to other drug-associated problems."

Strip mining laws in Kentucky seemingly have not been "uniformly enforced and doubt has been raised concerning their effectiveness," the convention maintained.

They pleaded for strict enforcement and new legislation "to eliminate strip mining in any area where it permanently alters the ecological foundation or geographic structure."

Since the first Heart Fund Campaign was conducted nationally in 1949, there has been a decline of about 20 percent in the death rate from heart and blood vessel diseases applying to persons below age 65.

It's more expensive than ever before for a person to maintain a bay window.

Ricky Phipps, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Phipps of Cottle, recently won the Kentucky Mountain Foxhunters Association Field Trials held in Johnson County. Here he poses with one of the hounds he entered in the event and trophies he won. Ricky's dogs won both the derby class for dogs under two years old and the all-age class for dogs over two years. Besides the trophies he was presented for winning these two classes, he received the Challenge trophy, center, for having the dog with the most points and the runner-up dog in all classes (Dave). A total of 167 dogs were entered in the trial. Ricky's dog trainers are Philip Caudill and Orbie Isaac of Salyersville.
